Charles W. Metcalf, of Pineville, Elected President of State Bar Association at Closing Session

Report of The Committee on Nominations Adopted Without Dissent.

Boat Ride This Afternoon and Banquet Tonight Wind Up Meeting.

With the election of officers this afternoon the State Bar association completed the business before it, and the members turned their attention to pleasure exclusively. At 4 o'clock they left on a river excursion, and to-night they will wind up the meeting in a grand finish with an elaborate banquet at the Palmer House.

The committee on nominations reported at 2:30 o'clock and the election, in accordance with recommendations, was without incident. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Charles W. Metcalf, Pineville.

Secretary, R. A. McElwain, Louisville.

Treasurer, John Todd, Shelbyville. Vice-presidents, N. W. Piley, Paducah; Clarence Finn, Owensboro; Jos. Barnett, Columbia; Van H. Norman, Louisville; H. H. Tye, Williamsburg; Gray Falconer, Lexington; Thomas B. Carruthers, Newport.

Executive committee, J. D. McQuinn, Paducah; E. J. McElwain, Louisville; F. H. Reese, Covington; James Yeaman, Henderson; J. H. Hockner.

Next Meeting Place.

The next meeting place is left with the executive committee, but Earl Spriggs is spoken of as the place for the next meeting, although Mammoth Cave has been mentioned. The members favor getting away from a city for at least one meeting. The executive committee will meet probably some time this month for the purpose of selecting the next meeting place.

Opening Session.

The Kentucky State Bar association met this morning at 10 o'clock and business was again resumed, with Hon. John Allen of Lexington, presiding.

The appointment of committee on nomination of officers was first taken up and the following were appointed: Hon. W. M. Reed, of Paducah; Hon. James Clay, of Henderson; Hon. T. A. Faurest, of Elizabethtown; Hon. T. K. Helm, of Louisville; Hon. C. E. Stall, of Lexington; Hon. W. M. Ayers, of Pineville; Hon. W. H. Mackey was appointed chairman.

The following delegates to the American Bar association, which meets at Detroit, were named: Judge William Reed, Paducah; James Quarles, Louisville; and T. P. Carruthers, Newport.

J. H. Sullivan, of Richmond, chairman of the committee on admission to the bar, reported recommending reforms, increasing the standard required for admission to the bar, and expressed the hope that the next legislature would enact a bill similar to the one enacted by the last legislature, but in such form that it would receive the approval of the governor.

B. R. Jonett, of Winchester, was not present and his paper on "Law Reform Committee's Report," was read by Secretary R. A. McElwain.

When the Law Fails.

The address of Hon. Robert L. Stout, of Versailles, on "Where the Law Fails," was extremely interesting. One of the greatest failures he said was the abuse of the plea of self-defense. He said it was over-worked, and while, of course, it should not be eliminated, the courts should see that it is not used when unjustified. If the courts fail to better conditions he suggested that it is up to the legislature.

The open qualifications for admission to the bar in Kentucky was another point where the law fails, and Mr. Stout urged that a higher qualification be required.

With the regular program completed the members began the passing of votes of thanks after the officers were elected. A rising vote of thanks was extended the Paducah Bar association for the generous welcome and entertainment to the state association, and votes of thanks were extended to the retiring president, the secretary and the treasurer.

President Metcalf assumed the chair and delivered a short speech in which he thanked the members for the honor, and promised to use his best energy for the uplifting of the association.

With all of the business disposed of the meeting was brought to a formal close at 12:45 o'clock, and the members left the court house for lunch. This afternoon a boat ride was taken, and tonight at the Palmer House the banquet will be held. Tomorrow all of the lawyers will be Att'y General on Corporations.

Says States Should Bar Holding Company Corporations and Thus Destroy Trusts—
Speech Last Night.

Briefly summed up Hon. George W. Wickersham, attorney general of the United States believes that trust and combinations in restraint of trade, can be curbed by state laws, refusing licenses to foreign corporations organized in any other states, fifty per cent of whose stock is owned by another corporation. He also advocates a national law, providing for federal creation of corporations doing interstate commerce business.

Mr. Wickersham established by many numerous citations that states have authority to restrict the entrance of foreign corporations within their borders by any terms they see fit, so that they are treated like other similar corporations; but he emphasized the limitations on this authority when it comes to dealing with later-state commerce conditions.

He said: "Much legislation has been enacted in various states for the purpose of preventing trusts, pools and combinations in restraint of trade and monopolies. Some of them have been more or less effective; most of them have proved ineffective as applied to foreign corporations."

"It has seemed to me," he said, "that an effective method of legislation on this subject would be to enact that no foreign corporation would be licensed to do business within the state if fifty per cent of its capital stock or upwards was owned or held by any other corporation domestic or foreign; and that if at any time after obtaining a license more than fifty per cent of the capital stock of such a corporation is acquired by another corporation the license should be ipso facto vacated. The device of the holding corporation is the only thing which has made possible the rapid growth of the great trusts and monopolies and a prohibition, such as that stated, would go far toward their destruction."

Demand Federal Protection.
"The increasing complexity and variety of regulation and taxation of foreign corporations by the various states has led to the organization of domestic corporations under the laws of the respective states where business is to be conducted, the capital stocks of which are held by a 'holding company,' organized to that mode of organization. Such is the organization of practically all of the best known trusts. A system of disqualifying state legislation such as suggested, while effective for the purpose, would inevitably increase the demand for federal legislation authorizing the organization of corporations under national laws for the conduct of interstate business."

He established the power of congress to organize corporations under the general power to regulate commerce among the states, and by many precedents, and said:
Centralization Inevitable.
"Of course, many will object to the centralizing tendency of a national law, authorizing the formation of corporations to carry on interstate business; but such a law seems to me to be the inevitable result of economic conditions. The business of manufacture and sale or barter and trade, is today conducted on such a vast scale that it cannot be circumscribed by the boundaries of any one state. On the other hand, no one state can effectively grapple with abuses of the vast power which modern conditions place in the hands of those who control great corporate enterprises. The amendment to the tariff bill recently introduced in congress, will, if enacted into a law, for the first time, require of all corporations, wherever organized, annual reports of those facts concerning their business which their stockholders and creditors and all who deal with them are entitled to know. If, now, congress shall enact a law providing for national incorporation to carry on interstate commerce, subject to such restrictions and with such freedom from local state control as congress shall see fit to prescribe, the state control of foreign corporations will soon cease to be a subject of great importance."

Well Received.
Hon. John R. Allen, of Lexington, president of the State Bar association, presided last night.

The Kentucky theater was well filled when Mr. Wickersham was introduced by Hon. Charles K. Wheeler in a speech, which happily put the attorney general and his audience in sympathetic touch. Mr. Wickersham explained that his address was prepared for lawyers and it would prove dry matter for the average hearer. However, most of the audience remained and listened attentively throughout. Mr. Wickersham proved his points as he proceeded and closed with the extracts reproduced today.

Mr. Wickersham made a pleasing impression personally on the members of the state bar, with whom he mingled all day yesterday. There is no attitudinizing in his manner, and he joined in the story telling at the noon hour and proved himself the best entertainer in the crowd.

He left at 1:30 this morning in the private car provided for him by the association.

Labor Day Observed Out at Wallace Park

Labor Day will be celebrated by the unions this year at Wallace park. The Central Labor Union has closed a deal for the use of the park, where a barbecue and many amusements will be held. The Chess, Checker & Whist club and the Elks will play ball at League park that afternoon.

The program will consist of the following amusements:
Election of a Goddess of Labor.
Speaking by orators of wide reputation, with several of whom the committee is in correspondence at the present time.

Refreshments will be plentiful, but no intoxicants will be allowed on the grounds.

The celebration will be preceded by a parade of the organizations. Nearly every manufacturer and business man in the city will join with a float or other show of his business and goal will.

The various attractions and the prizes in the games will be announced later.

ODDS CHANGED FROM

KETCHELL TO JOHNSON

Chicago, July 8.—John L. Sullivan says Ketchell can whip Johnson; Langford can whip either Ketchell or Johnson or Kaufman is too slow. He says there must have been something wrong with the Impke Ketchell fight. Papke has no license to go against Ketchell.

San Francisco, July 8.—Lex Hall, promoter, announced the match of Ketchell and Langford Labor day at Elks Nevada, for a purse of $25,000. Betting on the Johnson-Ketchell bout switched on account of Ketchell's poor showing against Papke. Johnson is a strong favorite. William Britt announced that Ketchell is seriously considering becoming a left handed heavyweight. He can't move middleweight without weakening.

Insane Father's Deed

St. Louis, July 8.—Gustave J. Krause, 56 years old, deranged by insanity, tied his nine-year-old son to a bedpost ready for slaughter, beat his sleeping wife unconscious with a rifle, and killed himself, pulling the trigger with his toe. The boy freed himself and escaped while his father was beating his mother. The woman is in a critical condition.

Epworth League

Seattle, July 8.—The Epworth League international convention began today. The forenoon was devoted to a discussion of the topic "The Christ Enthroned Among Men." The chief addresses were by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, H. W. Warren and the Rev. John A. Doyle, of Regina, Saskatchewan.

Grocery Firm Sold

J. H. Smith & Son have purchased the business and good will of the firm of I. Naubel, wholesale grocers at 221-223 Second street.

Western Leaves Reno

Reno, Nev., July 8.—Edward Payson Weston left Reno at 6 o'clock last night and expected to reach Truckee, thirty-five miles from here, before stopping.

Methodists Prepare For Fall Meeting

Arrangements are being made by the Methodists of Paducah for their union revival, commencing September 5. At a meeting of the pastors this morning at the residence of Dr. J. W. Blackard, presiding elder, the Rev. Mr. Brown and Singing Evangelist Curry, of Salem, Ark., were invited to lead the services, and the following committees were named:

Location—T. J. Owen, chairman; A. J. Hamberg and C. B. Hatfield, Finance—The Rev. G. T. Sullivan, chairman; L. H. Ogilvie, H. C. Rhodes and F. B. Smith, Broadway; C. W. Morrison, Dr. R. F. Fisher and H. J. Billings, Fountain Avenue; The Rev. Thomas J. Woodbridge, Guthrie Avenue; T. E. Ford, Third Street, and John W. Little, Little's chapel.

General Arrangements—G. W. Banks, chairman; B. F. Davis, M. L. Byrd, William Kinney, J. M. Gentry, Entertainment—G. T. Sullivan, G. W. Banks, T. J. Owen.

Music—John H. Robinson, Mrs. B. J. Hillings and Bessie Smalley.

The management of the meeting will be directed by Dr. Blackard, presiding elder.

The Rev. Mr. Brown and Mr. Curry have worked together for several years and have had large success and it is hoped that the entire community will co-operate with the meeting so that the best results may be had.

Brandenburg Released

St. Louis, July 8.—Broughton Brandenburg, charged with enticing away the Cabanne boy, was released on bail of $1,000 today.

Cardin Suit Settled

Louisville, July 8. (Special.)—A. H. Cardin says he has effected a compromise with the night riders in the damage suits filed by him as a result of the burning of his barn in Crittenden county.

Steel Strike

Pittsburgh, July 8.—Officials of the iron, steel and tin workers declare while they have the financial and moral support of the United Mine Workers, no sympathetic strike of the miners is anticipated. Cuts and provisions arrived at Sharon mills and other preparations indicate the company is arranging to make a desperate stand.

TELEPHONE COMPANY WINS FROM CITY IN FEDERAL COURT BUT COMPROMISE IN SIGHT

By Terms City May Regulate Rates and Company Pays Costs and Waives
Right to $3,800 in Suit.

OTHERWISE CITY HAS ALTERNATIVE OF GRANTING FRANCHISE OR BEING PERMANENTLY ENJOINED

Long Litigation Comes to End This Morning and Decree
Will Await Pleasure of the Parties.

The city council refused to compromise 7 to 3 this afternoon.

Paducah lost in the telephone litigation in the federal court, when Judge Evans indicated this morning that he would make the injunction of the company permanent unless the city should grant the franchise agreed upon by a committee of the general council; but it is believed a compromise will be effected this afternoon, by which the city will gain nearly every point for which it contended.

The compromise, which will be submitted to the general council in special session this afternoon, will be in effect that the city may regulate the manner of placing poles and stringing wires, regulate the prices to be charged for telephone service, the company reserving the right to appeal to the courts on any unreasonable restriction; and that the company shall waive all right to the $3,200 paid the city under the proposed franchise and tendered back by the city; the company shall waive the $600 claimed due for telephone service, and shall pay all the costs of these proceedings.

History of the Case.

The East Tennessee Telephone company, a Tennessee corporation, had been operating in Kentucky under a legislative grant for 25 years, when the city of Paducah questioned its right to operate here. A franchise was agreed upon about four years ago by representatives of the company and a councilman committee, by which the company was to pay the city $3,000 and receive a franchise, permitting it to charge $4 for residence phones, when it had 3,000 subscribers, and 50 cents additional for each 1,000 or fraction of a thousand additional, and $2.50 cents for business phones with 25 cents additional on the same terms. The $3,000 was paid, but the general council annulled the franchise and the company refused to accept it. Later the city tendered back the money with interest and under took proceedings to oust the company from the use of city streets. Then the company secured a temporary injunction in the federal court and the whole case was brought before Judge Evans.

He held in effect that by reason of its long acquiescence in the use of its streets by the telephone company, the city was estopped from denying the company's right.

It is believed this compromise, which will be entered as Judge Evans' decree, will give the city the authority it demands, and will be an entering wedge for the effective control of public service corporations. It will be incumbent on the company, under the terms, to show its books to establish the fact that rates fixed by the city are reasonable or unreasonable.

Snatched a Purse.

Van Reed, colored, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Joe Wood and Patrolman James Brennan on the charge of petty larceny. He was at the race track when he is alleged to have snatched a pocketbook from Tommie Stanford, a small boy. The purse had $5 in it. Reed was captured by the police and will be tried tomorrow morning in police court.

Races Tomorrow

At a meeting of the racing association this afternoon it was decided to have five running races Friday and five Saturday at the fair grounds. There are 200 horses there. Many came from Latonia today.

Tobacco Tax

Washington, July 8.—The senate accepted the amendment to the tariff bill, knocking out the 6 cent tax on leaf tobacco sold by farmers. It already was accepted by the house.

FRED MERRY IS AGAIN

SWINGING NIGHT STICK.
After a two weeks' absence, Fred Merry has picked up his mace and star and returned to work on the police force. He resigned from the force, but his resignation has not come before the board of fire and police commissioners, and Chief Collins permitted him to return to work. Mr. Merry has been to St. Louis and Arkansas on business.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO PAY

ELEVEN CENTS FOR COAL.
Contracts for the furnishing of supplies to the county schools for the next school session have been awarded. The contract for house equipment was awarded to Hank Brothers, their prices on the majority of the articles being the lowest. The contract for furnishing coal to the county school was given the Pittsburgh Coal company for 11 cents a bushel. The company will not deliver the fuel.

Washington, July 8.—The senate this morning finally passed the corporation tax amendment on a viva voce vote with a few scattering nays.

MISSOURI FLOOD SITUATION NOT RELIEVED TODAY

St. Louis, July 8.—Reports here are to the effect that the flood situation is growing worse. St. Charles, Mo., Kansas City, Chillicothe, Topeka and a number of Kansas points are seriously menaced. Every foot of Pattonsburg is under water. Rescue work, interrupted by darkness, was resumed at daylight and is proving difficult. Estimates of casualties are impossible, though some place the death list at 20. It rained most of the night.

Pattonsburg, Mo., July 8.—A fleet of 50 rowboats and launches manned by parties from St. Joseph and Kansas City are rescuing people from house-tops and upper windows and trees, taking them to the edge of the flood where tents are erected. Provisions and physicians are at the camps. It is believed the crest of the flood has passed.

Authorities fear an outbreak of disease and are planning to make the camps sanitary and prevent disease in the town after the flood subsides. One problem is a lack of pure drinking water. The flood poured polluted water into the wells of the neighborhood and typhoid is feared. Relief is hastened from nearby towns and cities and sufferers are to be made comfortable by night.

Trains Wrecked.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 8.—Two wrecks are reported as the result of the floods. A double-header freight overturned near Burlington Junction on the Burlington road. No one was killed. A train is reported wrecked at Clearmont and a fireman killed.

QUICK'S FANCIFUL PLAN FOR AIRSHIP UTILIZED.

Victoria, B. C., July 8.—W. Gibson has invented an airship said to be almost a counterpart of the mythical in Quick's novel, "Virginia of the Airplanes." Gibson claims he experimented successfully and declared he can fly from Victoria to San Francisco in less than five hours. He carries a set of governors so effective that it would right itself automatically in the air, if started outside down.

Aeronaut Falls

Waukegan, Ill., July 8.—Herne John, an amateur aeronaut, is in the hospital with his wrists and ankle broken, and his back injured, but may recover. His balloon ascending was torn by a guy rope. It rose ten feet and then fell rapidly.

Wasted Argument.

"I understand that you called on the plaintiff, Mr. Barnes, is that so?" questioned Lawyer Fuller, now chief justice.

"Yes," answered the witness. "What did he say?" next demanded Fuller.

The attorney for the defense jumped to his feet and objected that the conversation could not be admitted in the evidence. A half-hour's argument followed and the judges retired to their room to consider the point.

An hour later the judges filed into the court room and announced that Mr. Fuller might put his question.

"Well, what did the plaintiff say, Mr. Barnes?"

"He weren't at home, sir," came the answer without a tremor. Success Magazine.

RACE MEET

CLOSES AFTER THREE DAYS OF EXCELLENT SPORT.

Weather interfered Tuesday and Wednesday, but Everybody Was Satisfied.

The three days' racing meet closed yesterday afternoon with a full program of running races. The running horses drew a fair crowd considering the threatening weather, and with a clear sky a large crowd would have attended the final day. Owing to the rains the track was not in good condition, although the horses made fair time. The barrier was used to start the races, and the runners were started quicker.

The races yesterday afternoon closed the racing at the Paducah Fair association arranged a program for only three days. After the publication in The Sun last evening of the plans for three days' running races the authorities stopped them. Owing to the extreme heat two horses were lost the first day of the races, and others became sick as the result of the heat, but the last two days were without mishaps.

The results were as follows:
 First race, one-half mile, 2 in 3 heats, purse $100—First heat—Hermestel, owned by H. McCarren, won; Enterlight, owned by W. D. Reel, second; Grandday, owned by W. E. Baker, third; Gus Canolt and Dan Bailey also ran. Time, 1:50 1/2. at post. Time, 1:50 1/2.

Second heat—Hermestel, won; Gus Canolt, second; Grandday, third; Dan Bailey, also ran; Enterlight, left at post. Time, 1:50 1/2.

Second Race, three-fourth mile dash, purse $75—Zarnap, owned by T. Hatfield, won; Wyoming, owned by O. Willford, second; Waldorf Belle, owned by A. Luvall, third; Waggoner, Jr., H. M. Rebo and Campbell, also ran. Comic Opera got tangled in barrier and was left. Sir Walter Rollins scratched. Time 1:18.

Third Race, 1 1/4 mile, Derby, purse $150—Roseburg II., owned by M. McCarren, won; Meada, owned by W. R. Hall, second; Ionk, owned by O. Willford, third. Grandday and Enterlight also ran. Time 1:58.

Fourth Race, five-eighths mile dash, consolation purse, $75—Waddy Lee, owned by Flowers and Scott, won; Four Piece, owned by W. E. Baker, second; Yolloh, owned by A. W. Plundett, third; Lady Helen, Sagamook, St. Clair also ran. Lolosa K. and Athel Rose left at post. Time 1:06 1/2.

NEW AUTOMOBILE LAW

IN EFFECT IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., July 7.—The automobile department of the secretary of state's office has been working overtime these past three days. The new automobile law requiring every owner of a motor vehicle to take out a new license and to pay an annual license fee of $2 went into effect Thursday. Before closing time on the first day 11,000 applications for licenses had been received. Thousands more came in yesterday and today, and the rush is still on.

There is No Question About
WILSON'S
 Book Store

Being exactly the right place to buy books, music, Stationery, Magazines and all other kinds of book store stuff.

It is estimated that the operation of the law this year will bring a total revenue to the state over $20,000.

Application for a license must be accompanied by the owner's name, address and full descriptions of the automobile. The licenses are issued in the order of receiving the application.

A penalty of $2 is provided for failure to file an application within ten days after the law becomes effective.

Good Mercy! What a hot awful sticky down there?

Heaven! My husband has come in late and has fallen over the new law on a never ring. Cleveland Leader.

THREE FULL DAY IN WHICH TO PROFIT BY FIFTH BONUS

Candidates Who Expect to be Winners Must Get Busy.

Time Enough to Win Several
This Week.

IT WILL REQUIRE HARD WORK

VOTING LIMIT.

From this time, until further notice, no candidate will be permitted to cast more than enough certificates, or pink slip votes, to place him more than 5,000 ahead of the leader at the preceding publication of scores. For instance, if the leader of the entire contest has 20,000 votes to his credit at the last publication of scores, a candidate will not be allowed to vote more than enough certificates to make his score 25,000 in the next publication. This restriction does not apply to the coupon votes clipped from The Sun or associate papers. No candidate will be permitted to lead two days in succession if any other candidate has enough votes to pass him.

Three full working days remain in which to take advantage of the fifth bonus vote offer in The Paducah Sun and associate Newspapers' Great Voting Contest. This offer is: TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES for every $25 worth of NEW subscriptions, and FIVE THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES for every $25 worth of OLD business, turned in before Saturday night.

Three days is sufficient time to win two bonuses with ordinary effort. By the use of extraordinary effort it is possible to win twice or three times this many in this time. Bonuses count. The contest department has a red hook in which it keeps the name of all those who win them and if a candidate's name doesn't appear in this book once in awhile said candidate is not in the prize-winning class. You must win bonuses to win prizes. You must take advantage of every opportunity offered and no other such opportunities are offered.

Candidates must not reach the conclusion that two or three subscriptions handed them by friends will do them any great amount of good in this contest of hustlers. It takes three subscriptions to keep your name in the list, and you must turn in five before you will even be considered in the prize-winning class.

You are not a real live candidate until after you have turned in a dozen. Having turned in this many it will be time then to go to work in dead earnest.

As has been often said in this column of late, this is a game of HUSTLERS, in which laggards and procrastinators have a poor show. If you are one among the number who has been saying, "Oh, I'll go to work next week," it would be well for you to say something else for awhile. Next week never comes, you know. There is no time like the present, you have often heard. The maxi has special application here. Contests are always short. A certain amount of work must be done in a certain time, and a day lost is a day gone forever.

All of which is intended as a warning to really ambitious candidates that the contest is more than half over and no time can be wasted from now on. If you have not done good work so far consider seriously and delay no longer. Another day without something done may mean that you will miss a valuable prize by a few votes. If you are really in to win you must make every minute count.

Take warning. Waste no time. Contests are not won in a single day, but a single day's work may win a contest.

[Standing of contestants at noon, July 7.]

Daily Thought.

"It's always safe to deny the authority of an opportunity that thrusts itself on a duty."

They ain't goin' to be no more racin'.

Alienists in the Gingles case in Chicago have produced a new kind of insanity. We know lots of mythomaniacs.

In glancing over the list of candidates presented by Louisville Democracy we miss the name of our old friend, Senator McNutt.

We presume the Madisonville Journal suspended its unvarying rule about anonymous communications in favor of those "Night Riders, '80 Strong."

People, who wonder at the power wielded by the bench and bar, may study The Sun this evening learn upon "What meat does this great Caesar feed, that he has grown so great." They eat that kind of food all the time.

It will be unfortunate if the popular mind confuses the short racing meets of the local association with the unhappy twenty-one days' racing season, which never was. The Paducah Fair association has afforded the people of this vicinity some excellent sport, and its meets have been without disorder or any other element to discourage its efforts. Lovers of horse flesh are indebted to the gentlemen, who give their time to making this amusement a success, and look forward to even better sport next fall.

THE TRUST DISEASE AND ITS REMEDY.

One man invents a projectile that will pierce any armor. Then another man patents an impervious armor. Immediately the first man sets about improving his projectile, and so the world goes on. The necessity always precedes its child, the invention.

We enact criminal laws to discourage crimes already known, not to anticipate the result of conditions not yet experienced. We do not enact building laws for a class of buildings only contemplated. The cure can be discovered only after the disease is studied.

Thus it is with our modern problem of corporate control. They developed as the result of an economic condition. They assumed huge proportions and began to prey upon one another like gigantic creatures of the sea. Citizens became alarmed and speculators were proposed by radical publicists, who are most sensitive to popular impulses, but least disposed to erudition. They proposed and enacted laws, condemning trusts and combinations in restraint of trade, and imposed excessive burdens of taxation and penalties on them. Like the projectile manufacturer, when he found the impervious armor, the corporation lawyers devised a means to get around state regulations. They organized a corporation in the state in which they wished to do business and transferred the stock to "another corporation, known as a "holding company", organized in New Jersey. This holding company possessed the stock of all corporations in the states in which they did business, and the whole combination was known as a trust; because the holding company acted in the capacity of a trustee. That accounts for the scores of subsidiary corporations of the Standard Oil company, of New Jersey.

Against this form of combination small fry politicians and legislators have raved and ranted. Like the quack doctor, who recognized the presence of a fever and a headache in his patient and resorted to an ice pack to reduce the temperature and a powder to cure the headache, while the producing cause of both was beyond his comprehension; these legislators have enacted all sorts of penal measures, designed to put the trusts in the penitentiary.

The sagacious statesmen studied the organization of trusts. Some people complained because the national administrations persisted in calling corporation lawyers to the cabinet; but Roosevelt and Taft were wise. They wanted men, who understood the nature of the monsters with which they had to deal, and the result was the frank declaration last night at the Kentucky theater by Attorney General Wickersham that a simple remedy is within the power of every state, which will "destroy" these combinations.

The "holding company" is the bacterium, which produces the trust. A law, which will render the holding company plan abortive, will "destroy" the trusts. The remedy is simple. He suggests the enactment of a law, prohibiting any foreign corporation doing business in the state, fifty per cent of whose stock is owned by another corporation.

That was the sum and substance of his speech last night. He is a thorough lawyer, and he proved his steps as he went along by citations of authority. Like all other men, who have been engaged in the federal fight on the trusts, he sees plainly the necessity for federal supervision of interstate corporations. State control is limited when it comes to interstate commerce. The federal government by the corporation income tax will compel the publicity of corporate accounts, a measure that will do much to relieve certain industrial stocks of their resemblance to a pair of loaded dice, and will pave the way for national incorporation to do interstate business. That will be better for the corporations and the people, and save many legislators from the temptation to accept bribes.

MR. TAFT IN THE ROLE OF A GLACIER.

Mr. LaPollette, unfortunately is a radical; and therefore, is entirely wrong quite as often as he is entirely right. We applauded him in his opposition to Aldrich's attempt to bunc the people on the tariff; but when he attacks the administration for its corporation income tax, a coup by which President Taft trapped the senator from Rhode Island into sanctioning the first step in that corporate control, which brought down on the devoted head of Theodore Roosevelt the bitter hatred of the whole Standard Oil crowd, he is only proving his unfitness for leadership of any great movement.

Mr. Taft moves as slowly, almost as imperceptibly, but quite as irresistibly as a glacier, and when his eight years are ended, the whole political character of this national government, and industrial conditions, in so far as they are related to politics, will be changed permanently. Fossils of defunct mammoths may be found by digging deep; but they will be valuable only as exhibits, by which we may trace the development of our industrial democracy; and the tropical luxuriance of the wealth getting combinations, will be but a legend preserved in the current numbers of the popular magazines. We fear that Senator LaPollette's carcass will be found at the bottom of the glacial mind, and may be mistaken for a parasite in the hide of one of the defunct mammoths. Instead of one of the constructive statesmen of the period, but such is fate and thus does geology treat us all.

A Horse Doctor.

Little Muriel flew into the house, flushed and breathless.
"Oh, mother," she cried, "don't scold me for being late to tea, for I've had such a disappointment! A horse fell down and they said they were going to send for a horse doctor so, of course, I had to stay. And after I'd waited and waited, he came, and, oh, mother, what do you think? It wasn't a horse doctor at all. It was only a man!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Touque Fought.

Two darkies were engaged in a lively dispute about the purchase of a mule.

"Loow heah, Mistah Jackson," exclaimed one, "you done tote me, three weeks ago, hat mule wuz a young animal. He n't got a toof in his head, he's so old."

Mr. Jackson thoughtfully scratched his head and then replied: "Tims shuah does fly in his heah country."—Success Magazine.

THE PUBLIC FORUM.

Hopkinsville, Ky., New Era.

After a week at historic and hospitable Estill Springs, the members of the Kentucky Press association are back at home. It was an enjoyable period of recreation and the business sessions were edifying. Estill has rare natural loveliness and affords exceptional creature comforts, and we were moved at the beginning of the meeting to apostrophe "the springs" thusly:
Estill, O, exquisite Estill.
Fair art thou as dreams of faye!
With unalloyed rest and revelry
Glide your golden days.

Your mountains nod a "howdy"
And your valleys smile "hello."
In a dual salutation
To us who like you so.

That from Pennyrile and Purchase,
From the Bluegrass, everywhere,
The editors are collecting
(Which, by the way, is rare).

We are all of us expecting
The joy-time of our lives,
For we've left behind our business,
And, some of us, our wives.

For your greeting we are grateful.
Ah! you're looking fine and festive.
We love our wives and work, of course,
But, O, you Estill!

Washington Post.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, ever watchful during the debate in the senate to score any little partisan point, no matter how infinitesimal it may be, undertook to "ruh in" on the Republican leaders the fact that the Democratic convention at Denver had declared for the submission of a constitutional amendment on the income tax, and to accuse the Republicans of appropriating the idea.

He said, as he looked at Senator Brown, of Nebraska, that the latter had been given credit for the authorship of the resolution upon which the senate was about to vote, but he added that he wanted to express the hope that the senator would not omit informing the people of the country that he appropriated the idea from a Democrat, and a distinguished citizen of his state. This direct reference to Mr. Bryan caused Senator Brown, of Nebraska, to ask:

"Does the gentleman from Missouri complain of the source of the idea?"

"Oh, no," replied Mr. Stone, "I am not complaining. I am congratulating the senator on having gone to that source."
"Well, does the senator from Missouri complain because the idea has been appropriated?" asked Mr. Brown, without smiling.

"Not at all," responded Mr. Stone, "I am glad that the Republican party has gone to the Democratic platform for its idea. I repeat that I am congratulating the senator."

"Well," said Mr. Brown, "does not the senator from Missouri know that if anything good in any Democratic platform is ever to benefit the people of the United States it must be appropriated by somebody?"

And Mr. Brown as solemnly sat down again.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Miss Ruby Johnson, a graduate of Paducah Central Business College, has been employed as stenographer by Elliott & Birke, one of the new firms recently moved in from Memphis, Tenn. Miss Lober Lanier is also doing the stenographic work for the Auhouser-Busch, recently moved in from the same city. Miss Lanier is a graduate of the Central Business college.

Mr. H. J. Bruce, the efficient Paducah Central bookkeeper for J. M. McKimman, has resumed his work at the office of the above firm after a few days' vacation spent with his parents in Rutherford, Tenn.

Mr. Ben H. Griffith, Jr., a graduate of the Paducah Central college and well known in Paducah, having resided here a number of years, visited the college last Monday. Mr. Griffith was secured a position as bookkeeper by the Central college for the Carson Pirie Scott Co., of Chicago, Ill., where he is yet working. He reports, however, that he has been promoted and is now manager of their correspondence department. His many friends will, no doubt, be highly pleased to learn this.

Mr. Willis Threlkeld, who has been doing the stenographic work for Judge Wells, in Murray, Ky., resigned his position recently to accept a similar one at an advanced salary with the I. C. R. Co., of Fulton, Ky. Mr. Threlkeld is a graduate of Paducah Central Business College, and was secured the above positions by them. The college reports that it now has eight of its graduates with the Illinois Central, and were unable to fill another call last Friday.

Mr. John Sexton, a former graduate of Paducah Central, who recently visited his parents in Luckey, Mo., has returned and is now quite active in his race for the office of circuit court clerk, of Livingston county. Mr. Sexton is a self-made young man and his many friends are more than eager to see him win because he has specifically fitted himself for the position to which he aspires.

COAL WORKERS MAY STRIKE.

May Go Out in Sympathy With Sheet and Tin Workers.

Pittsburgh, July 8.—Much interest was shown here when it became known that President Thomas L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers of America, has taken official notice of the strike now on between the tin makers and makers of steel and the American Sheet and Tin Plate company. The air is filled with rumors of a sympathetic strike to be declared, perhaps, by the coal workers.

President Lewis has sent word that he will speak at the mass meeting of the Tin Workers' Protective League to be held at New Castle, Pa. There were signs of trouble at Sharon when the tin plate workers began fixing up a warehouse for eating and sleeping quarters, and made no secret of the fact that strike breakers are to be housed there. The force of strike pickets around the mills has been increased.

Ten of the twenty hot mills were fired up in readiness to start as soon as the men can be brought in.

MUST NOT TRAIL FLAGS.

Disrespectful Visitors Are Ordered Arrested in Toronto.

Toronto, July 8.—As a result of a sensational drive by a party of Americans through the streets of Toronto, with two British flags tied to the axle and trailing in the street dust, Mayor Oliver issued an order empowering policemen to arrest in future such disrespectful visitors. A big delegation of aldermen, city council members and members of the Orange order waited on his honor and demanded action against the discourteous Americans.

The tally-ho's and whips were covered with big American flags. The occupants pointed jeeringly at the Union Jacks in the roadway.

The Evening News editorially calls the affair "impudent and impertinent," and the Star terms it a "triumph of bad manners."

AMEND CHARTERS WISH OF MAYORS

TO RELIEVE CITIES OF BURDEN
—SOME DAMAGE SUITS

Meeting of Second and Third Class
Cities at Frankfort.

TAKE PRELIMINARY STEPS

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—The mayors and city attorneys of several of the second and third classes of this state met here for the purpose of perfecting an organization looking to concerted action in the matter of municipal legislation, municipal reform and many improvements in the fiscal affairs of the municipalities of this class.

The movement is wholly non-political and non-partisan and the officials of the various cities, regardless of politics, will be invited to join in the movement.

Subsequent meetings, the places and dates to be announced later, were arranged for.

A temporary organization was perfected. Mayor Hume was elected chairman and Mayor O'Bryan, secretary.

Those present were: Mayor S. D. Harris, of Henderson; Mayor Jno. J. Craig, of Covington; Mayor Geo. L. Wilson, of Bowling Green; Mayor W. M. O'Brien, of Owensboro; Mayor E. E. Hume, of Frankfort; City Solicitor Jno. E. Shepard, of Covington; City Attorney William Cronwell, of Frankfort; City Attorney R. C. P. Thomas, of Bowling Green.

To Draft Bill.

The mayors hope to be able to draft a bill to be presented at the next session of the legislature that will so amend the charters of the cities to relieve them from the burden of damage suits, heavy taxation and useless offices.

The first step taken in this great proposed reform was at the meeting of the mayors held here. Judge E. C. O'Rear was present, being invited by Mayor Hume, and besides making many suggestions for reform, he will be relied upon to suggest many of the features of the measure that will bring about the reforms.

Another meeting of the third class city mayors will be held in Louisville in a short time, at which the mayors of all the cities will meet, and legislation looking to the betterment of all the cities in the commonwealth.

Damage Suits a Menace.

The one special reform desired, however, is that of changing the charters so as to protect the cities against damage suits. Thousands of dollars are secured from the municipalities annually because of some child falling to the pavement sustaining an injury, some citizen breaking a limb on a rough pavement or street, slight damage done by the overflow of water, or the washing out of a street.

The great cost, too, is in the payment of attorneys' fees and costs, for it has been discovered by the few years of experience since the cities that Kentucky juries rarely ever turn down the plaintiff in a damage suit against the city, even if the judgment is for one cent, enough to put the costs on the city.

A committee composed of City Attorneys Cronwell, of Frankfort, and Thomas, of Bowling Green, will draw up the resolution setting forth the reforms needed, and it will be from this resolution that the measure will be drafted.

It is so next to impossible to teach a boy to earn his own living that it's hardly worth while to try if you can support him.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

If an old sore existed simply because the flesh was diseased at that particular spot, it would be an easy matter to apply some remedy directly to the place that would kill the germs; or the diseased flesh might be removed by a surgical operation and a cure effected. But the very fact that old sores resist every form of local or external treatment, and even return after being cut away, shows that back of them is a morbid cause which must be removed before a cure can result. Just as long as the pollution continues in the blood, the ulcer remains an open cesspool for the deposit of impurities which the circulation throws off. S.S.S. cures Old Sores by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of impurity and taint from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood, the sore begins to heal and it is not a surface cure, but the healing process begins at the bottom; soon the discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, and the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S.S.S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. PROS FOR PROHIBITION.

Will Be Put In Place by Special Session.

Montgomery, Ala., July 8.—Determined to make laws that the liquor interests cannot evade, Gov. B. B. Comer has called a special session of the legislature for July 27, at which time the most important matter will be the strengthening of the prohibition act. The decision of the supreme court that no prohibition against holding or storing liquors in saloons has aroused the anti-saloon forces. One of their leaders declares that at the special session a bill will be passed to put prohibition in the constitution.

Judge McDowell Likely to Be Named.

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—Chairman Henry B. Frewitt, of the Democratic state central committee, has certified to Governor Wilson the names of three Democrats from whom to appoint a Democratic member of the state board of election commissioners. The Democrats named are Prison Commissioner, Judge Charles B. McDowell, of Danville; J. Morgan Chinn and H. V. McCleskey, of this city. The appointment of John T. Shelby as the Republican commissioner was formally made, the law saying that the governor must make the appointment in July. It is expected that the governor will reappoint Judge McDowell as the Democratic commissioner. Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

STATE BAR MEETING

J. McDermott, of Louisville. The committee favored the use of session titles, but called for a radical change to prevent the criminals taking advantage of the law, and escaping punishment. The abuses occur most frequently in criminal prosecutions, will be the strengthening of the prohibition act. The decision of the supreme court that no prohibition against holding or storing liquors in saloons has aroused the anti-saloon forces. One of their leaders declares that at the special session a bill will be passed to put prohibition in the constitution.

Regarding the "unwritten law," Mr. McDermott said: "The use of expert testimony is brought out most plainly in spectacular murder trials, where effort is made to save the neck of some criminal by presenting the heinous plea of insanity. This horrible pretense has often been used of late to enable juries and courts to violate their rules by giving effect to the so-called 'unwritten law' or by freeing from just punishment some man who has a plausible plea for public sympathy and who is helped by headless and shrewd and corrupt newspaper advocacy. If the so-called unwritten law is sound, it should be made a written statute or it should be suppressed with a firm hand. We should not force juries and judges to perjure themselves and to render dishonest verdicts because we have not the hardihood to put such a law on the statute books."

The "brain storm" and "emotional insanity" were not held as justifiable to prevent criminals receiving just punishment. By excluding them the committee reported that the number was only multiplied. The study of nervous diseases is far from complete, and the lawyers recommended that only alienists of high character and ability be employed as witnesses.

In closing Mr. McDermott said: "Such trials as the Shaw trial, the Haines trial and the trials of similar character in Virginia a few years ago and to bring not only the lawyers and doctors into disrepute, but to make the people themselves believe that we cannot or will not make judicial trials reasonably efficient for the promotion of justice."

Afternoon Session.
It was after 1 o'clock before the state bar association adjourned Wednesday afternoon, becoming involved in a lively discussion over Hon. Gas Thomas' resolution, requesting the court of appeals to repeal its rule, ordering all citations of cases reported in the "official reporter" to be so cited, and not in any other publication. Members of the court present and their champions held that the purpose was to save the judges the double duty of looking up citations and then referring to the official reporters again to see if they were accurately quoted. It was contended by Judge Hobbs and several orators on his side that the rule makes it incumbent on members of the profession, who have been using different reports to spend a large sum of money replenishing their libraries. In the midst of the debate a motion to adjourn until the next morning was carried, and the whole association went automobile.

On Taxation.
The afternoon session was taken up with reports. One of the most interesting was that on state and municipal taxation by W. H. Mackey, of Covington. He told of the work of the committee and of the commission appointed by the governor. He said he would not anticipate the commission's report, but all agree that no adequate reform can be secured without a constitutional amendment giving greater latitude to the legislature. He said now it is possible to so segregate property that one kind of property may be assessed for state purposes, another for county and another for city. He condemned the section 171 of the constitution, providing for a general property tax, and said the burden of taxation should be so equalized that people would desire to keep their property in Kentucky.

The executive committee report, made by S. D. House, of Covington, named John R. Allen, E. J. McDermott, W. H. Mackey, D. C. Lindsay and Z. T. Morrow a committee to participate in behalf of the association in the celebration of the removal of the court of appeals to the new capital.

J. C. Browder, of Russellville, read the report of the necrology committee, eulogizing the five members, who died during the year.

The investigating committee had no charges to report.

Mr. R. L. Green, of Frankfort, made the report of the committee on preservation of records, setting forth their recommendations.

John B. Baskin, of Louisville, reported that the insurance committee had laid before the legislature recommendations adopted at the last bar association meeting.

In an address on "The Future of Our Profession," Mr. Montgomery Merritt, of Henderson, rehearsed the past glories of the bar; defined the changes which a new social, industrial and commercial order have necessitated in the profession, spoke of the dangers which beset modern relations of the lawyer to business, and dwelt upon the possibilities that lay in the path of the profession, if it keeps close to its ideals and leads in movements for the public weal.

The Banquet.

Chairman James Campbell, Jr., and the banquet committee have completed all preparations for the finest banquet in the history of the state bar at the Palmer House tonight.

ACTION OF WRIGHTS

SIGNAL CORPS DISPLAYS CON-CERN OVER AEROPLANE.

Ansions for Congress to Give More
Attention—Centre for Wilbur
Wright.

Washington, July 8.—The signal corps officers concerned in the aeroplane trials are beginning to exhibit signs of irritation at the apparent lack of concern of the Wright brothers, regarding aspects of the matter which to the army officers, seem exceedingly important, principally the relation of congress and its power to make appropriations.

That body, whence flow all blessings for army and navy, will shortly dispose of the tariff question and disperse to places and interests for removed from aerial navigation.

Beginning with Brig. Gen. James Allen, the chief signal officer, every member of the corps wants the members of the house and senate to witness the remarkable flights made by the Wright brothers in order that they will treat more kindly and with greater familiarity the requests for appropriations for aeronautical work. The Wrights acknowledge no other interest than to fulfill the conditions of their contract as soon as possible, but without assuming any unnecessary risks.

Wilbur Wright left for New York last night in a decidedly unamiable manner. He failed to notify the officers stationed at the aeroplane shed that he intended to go, nor did he leave any word as to when he would be back or as to what necessitated his departure. While Orville is expected back from Dayton tomorrow, it seems hardly likely that there will be any more flights at Fort Myer before next week.

"Why do the Wrights insist on building their own motors? That is something I cannot understand when there are so many experts who could furnish them with a motor that would not skip or stop while the machine is in the air." So said one of the signal corps officers today. He also commented upon Orville Wright's feeling compelled to travel to Dayton in order to get a strip of cloth with which to repair the wing of the aeroplane.

Wants Longer Time.

Washington, July 8.—Formal request was made to the war department by A. M. Herring, of New York, today for an extension of the time of his contract to furnish a flying machine to the signal corps of the army to August 15.

Herring was to have furnished a machine and to have complied with the tests of acceptance by July 1. He explained in his letter today that he was unavoidably detained. Brig. Gen. Allen, chief signal officer, will take up the matter with the secretary of war.

CITY ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF SEVENTEENTH STREET, BY GRADING AND GRAVELING, FROM A POINT WHERE SAME INTERSECTS BROADWAY STREET TO A POINT WHERE SAME INTERSECTS "H" STREET IN WHEELER'S ADDITION TO THE CITY OF PADUCAH, KENTUCKY.

Be it ordained by the General Council of the City of Paducah, Kentucky:

Sec. 1. That Seventeenth street from a point where same intersects the south curb line of Broadway to a point where same abuts the gravel pit adjoining Wheeler's addition to the city of Paducah, Kentucky, and thence around said gravel pit to "B" street, in Wheeler's addition to the city of Paducah, as shown upon the blue print filed with said map a part of the dedication of said Seventeenth street, in the city of Paducah, Kentucky, be and the same is hereby ordered to be originally reconstructed of good cement gravel together with all necessary fills, culverts and drains, suitable in all respects for such construction; all to be done in strict accordance with the plans, grades, specifications, widths and profiles of the City Engineer, made and provided by him for such purpose, all of which are adopted as a part of this ordinance as fully as if embraced herein or attached hereto and made a part hereof.

Sec. 2. That said work shall be constructed under the direction of the Board of Public Works and the supervision of the City Engineer, and shall be commenced at a time designated by the City Engineer.

AS EASY AND HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR.

Who does not know of the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition. As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur. If properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, put up an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. It is sold by leading druggists for 50c and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the manufacturer upon receipt of price. For sale and recommended by W. J. Gilbert.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN AIDS BRANDENBURG

DOES NOT SEE PRISONER BUT HINTS AT GETTING HIM.

Thinks Caller at Station May Have Appreciated His Shm Work.

HIS WIFE IS COMING HERE.

St. Louis, July 8.—A strange woman, pretty and dressed in the height of fashion, who refused to give her name, is the latest person to take an interest in Hiram Brandenburg, facing trial here for entailing from his home James Shepard Calhoun III, 9 years old, whom he spirited away to San Francisco. The woman was at police headquarters several times inquiring about the amount of bond that would be required to secure the release of the well-known writer. She finally said that it would not be necessary for him to remain long in jail. "The woman did not visit the prisoner, and when the fact of her presence was reported to him in his cell, Brandenburg said he could not but believe who she was unless she was one of the young women who became interested in his sham work when he was in St. Louis four or five years ago. At that time, he said, several of the women who were also interested in the work told him that if he ever needed assistance they could be called upon. Brandenburg said that he had almost forgotten the words of the women and that he had not called on any of them for assistance.

Wife Is Coming Here.

Brandenburg received two letters from Miss Calhoun Brandenburg. Both were couched in endearing terms, and in the last one Mrs. Brandenburg said she hoped to be able to leave New York Thursday of this week, so that she could be in St. Louis in time to appear as a witness for Brandenburg in case he was sent to trial.

On his way to St. Louis Monday Brandenburg gave the newspapers a story for which he was paid $25. He received the check and it was immediately forwarded to Mrs. Brandenburg at New York.

"It was the first money I have earned in some time," said Brandenburg. "There is no use denying the fact that I am broke, but I still have my brains and my good right hand and can regenerate if given a chance. I have some more money coming to me and that will be sent to Mrs. Brandenburg, so she can come to St. Louis.

"After I am out of this trouble, as for that matter while I am waiting trial on bond, which I expect to get within a short time, I propose to remain right here in St. Louis."

Did Not Elude With Mrs. Calhoun. What seemed to worry Brandenburg more than anything else yesterday was a story printed in a morning paper to the effect that he had eloped with Mrs. James S. Calhoun. He dictated the following, bearing on that story:

"In reference to the printed statement that I eloped with the then Mrs. Calhoun, this is a gross error, an injustice to her. The Calhouns had patched up a divorce suit some time prior to 1906. In May of that year came another family rupture and Mrs. Calhoun took up her home with her brother-in-law, E. W. Hiles, in New York. In July she returned to St. Louis to get her son.

As one of Hiles' intimate friends, I knew her and Mr. Calhoun, and being on a visit to my father at Springfield, Ill., and having loneliness in St. Louis, I was in St. Louis a portion of the time that Mrs. Calhoun was here. I remained in St. Louis for some time after she left, and was with Mr. Calhoun many times. After leaving St. Louis she lived with her sister and then established her home with Hanesville's family. When in New York I was at home at my house, 25 Fifth avenue, which I relinquished May 1, 1907. I did not accompany Mrs. Calhoun and there was no elopement. I didn't even know her destination and subsequent whereabouts for some time."

For Attorney General.

Howling Green, Ky., July 8.—In the current issue of the Howling Green Messenger the Hon. Mills M. Logan, of Edmonson county, announces his candidacy for attorney general of the commonwealth, subject to the action of the Democratic party. He is the first candidate to formally announce his purpose to make the race for a state office. Mr. Logan is only 31 years of age, but has a wide acquaintance throughout the district and is counted one of the brightest lawyers of his age in southern Kentucky. It is not thought that the third district will present any other candidate for a state office to the next state convention. Mr. Logan will soon begin a tour of the state in the interest of his candidacy.

A Promise to Pay

Would you accept a stranger's note? No. Then why accept from a stranger any other promise to pay? A Fire Insurance policy is such a promise. Ought you to accept it without knowing all about the Company? Your usual business confidence is based on knowledge. Why make an exception in that part of your business which deals with insurance? A name is worth nothing on any kind of a promise to pay unless it is backed by character and resources.

We favor Insurance knowledge, particularly about our companies. Their promises to pay have never gone to protect. Their obligations to us policy holders are backed with such a good reputation and such ample financial resources that the more you know about them the more you will want protection by their policies.

THREE NATIONS ARE TAKING PART

SCENE OF CHAMPLAIN CELEBRATION SHIFTS TO BURLINGTON.

The Canadian, American and British Troops in Pageant—French and English Ambassadors.

BRILLIANT MILITARY PARADE

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 8.—New York state's share in the bicentenary celebration of the discovery of Lake Champlain reached its climax. The scene of pageantry, parades, speech-making, interchange of compliments among the three nations of France, Great Britain and the United States who shared in the history-making of the Champlain country, will all be transferred across the lake to Vermont, and Burlington will have its fling.

President Taft, Ambassadors Jusseland of France, and Bryce, of Great Britain, with Governors Hughes and Proctor, occupied the center of the celebration stage. Each made three speeches, and all were present at a banquet last night. Senator Root was added to the prominent guests and made the historical address of the celebration at Plattsburg barracks. Postmaster General Rodolphe Lemieux, of Canada, also spoke at the barracks, and with Root and others again at the banquet, where expressions of friendly feeling among the three great nations participating in the bicentenary were emphasized.

Mr. Lemieux and Ambassador Jusseland each took President Taft for a subject and their remarks gave him equal prominence with Champlain. Jusseland declared that there must be a feeling between Champlain and the president, for each knew what it was to plant a flag in a far away land. "The effort and all that was best in Champlain," declared Jusseland, "lives again in President Taft. And there is a people in a distant settlement who know it and feel it, and who for centuries will bless his name."

Canada had a large share in the celebration and on the military reservation at Plattsburg barracks the president and other guests witnessed a parade of American and Canadian troops which was spectacular to a degree seldom attained in this country. A regiment of Highlanders in their characteristic scarlet coats, furry hats and kilts from Ottawa, and another regiment, the governor general's foot guard, also from Ottawa, in a uniform of almost equal brilliancy, all fully armed and with bands playing British and Scotch marches and melodies, participated in the military display. Two regiments and a squadron of cavalry from the United States forces and a regiment of the New York state national guard, all in the modest blue of the American army, formed a contrast with the bright color which the foreigners presented. The five regiments first were drawn up in regimental front across the wide spreading parade ground of the barracks opposite the president's reviewing stand. The speech making and exercises at the stand had been completed and the sun was fast slipping down to the western horizon when the bugles began the stirring notes of "assembly."

Amidst in an instant the ragged fringe of soldiers was transformed into a right line which stretched from one end of the vast parade ground to the other. By singular coincidence and adding immeasurably to the impressiveness of the review the proceedings had been delayed until the sounding of the assembly had barely preceded the time of retreat, the "setting of the sun." While all the troops Canadian and American alike, stood at attention a squad of buglers began the familiar notes of evening call.

Boy Drowned.

Cadiz, Ky., July 8.—Frank, the 11-year-old son of W. Sam Lloyd, a prominent farmer living four miles west of here, was drowned in Little river, near his father's home. A gasoline boat belonging to A. P. White was tied to the bank near the house, and while Frank and his brother were playing on the boat, in an effort to climb around the end of the boat the little fellow stepped on the stern wheel, which turned and threw him into the water.

Sunstroke.

In nine cases out of ten sunstroke or heat stroke simply means fainting, fainting caused by sun or air heat acting on one whose resistance has been lowered by disease, drunkenness or fashionable dressing. It starts with a giddy feeling, the man staggers and then he falls, he is pale, pulse small, weak and fluttery, breathing soft and sighing, skin cold and clammy, he is partly or wholly unconscious. Finally he recovers without treatment in a few hours with splitting headache and great weakness, but some cases fall directly from fainting into death from heart failure.—New York Press.

U. S. TO KEEP IN NAVAL RACE. Expansion Necessary to Meet Strides of Germany and Japan.

Washington, July 8.—Germany and Japan will be much in mind when the naval bill of next winter is discussed in congress. It is not that anybody has particular fears of either of those countries, but that both are plucky determined to develop their power and position in their prospective fields of commercial and political influence. As to Germany, it is recognized that the German menace is not directed against the United States, as a few years ago, but against Great Britain. As to Japan, even her British allies are increasingly nervous about her disposition to crowd out British shipping and commercial interests all over the Pacific.

These things are being pointed out as reasons why it is necessary for the United States to keep its own future in both the east and South America and as a growing commercial factor to maintain an impressive navy. There is more or less opposition to naval increases; but everything indicates that the navy will grow in future with greater strides than in the past, so long as the leading European powers continue in their race of naval expansion.

President Taft is credited with a firm purpose of influential participation in all the larger policies of the east, to the extent of protecting every proper commercial opportunity for Americans there.

ALL CATTLE MUST BE INSPECTED NOW

TUBERCULAR COWS BARRED FROM STATE.

State Board of Health Finds the Disease Prevalent in Many Counties.

CALLS ON LOCAL BOARD, TOO

Louisville, July 8.—At a meeting of the state board of health, held in the Atherton building, a proclamation was issued against tubercular cattle, and steps were taken to give the authority of the state board to the application of the tuberculin test.

The state board bases its action upon recent examinations made by Dr. Cyrus W. Field, of Louisville, showing that the cattle of this state are infected with tuberculosis. Authority is given all the county boards to apply the tuberculin test and to kill all tubercular cattle.

The proclamation adopted was as follows:

Proclamation by the state board of health.

Whereas, Under the authority of the fiscal court of Jefferson county, Dr. Cyrus W. Field, pathologist and bacteriologist of the University of Louisville, a man of wide experience and eminent authority upon the subject, examined 119 specimens of milk taken from 53 dairies of various counties supplying milk to the city of Louisville, and found that 29.1 per cent of them were tubercular; now, therefore, be it resolved that:

Whereas, Infectious and contagious disease exists among cows producing milk for sale in this state, in the counties of Jefferson, Shelby, Spencer, Laramie, Hardin, Kenton, Campbell, Fayette and other counties of this state, and it is essential to take precautions against the spreading of such disease, because the use of the milk from such cows is a menace to the lives and health of the people, and especially the infant children of the state who may use such milk, and the herding of such cows with cows free from said disease exposes the healthy cow to infection and contagion.

Now, by virtue of the authority of law vested in us as the state board of health, we do hereby proclaim:

Rules Set Down.

First—That such infectious or contagious disease exists in the counties of this state.

Second—That in order to prevent the spreading of that disease and protect the health of the inhabitants of this state, we proclaim and direct that the following rules adopted by this board, namely:

First—It shall be the duty of every person owning or having control of cows in this state, used for the production of milk for sale or exchange to submit at all times such cows to the tuberculin test for tuberculosis; such examination to be had by the veterinary surgeon of this board or his assistants; and no milk shall be permitted to be sold or disposed of in the state of Kentucky unless the cow producing same shall have been tested and show negative reaction to tuberculin.

Second—That in order to prevent infection or contagion among herds of cows of this state, and the spreading of disease resulting from tuberculosis, all cows found by the veterinary surgeon of this board to be affected with tuberculosis shall, after three days' notice to the owner in writing, be destroyed by him; if not destroyed, said veterinary surgeon or his assistants shall cause the same to be destroyed at the cost of the owner thereof.

Tubercular Cows Must Be Killed.

Said animals so found to be infected shall be destroyed in such manner as may be determined by said veterinary surgeon, or person, acting under the direction of this board.

Third—In order to accomplish the purpose of having a thorough tuberculin test of all milk-producing cows in this state, and to prevent the sale or disposition, or having in possession milk produced by such cows, the board deems it essential and requests that all local boards throughout the state, as well as the inspectors of the bureau of animal industry of the United States, and all officers of this commonwealth, shall aid in conjunction with the officers of this board to effectuate the purposes of the foregoing rules.

Fourth—No animals of the bovine species, except such as brought for immediate slaughter, shall be allowed to be brought into this state unless they have shown negative reaction to tuberculin, which shall be shown by a certificate of the veterinary surgeon and the health officer in the territory from which said cattle come; and in addition to this, such cattle shall be subject to the inspection of the veterinary surgeon of this board and his assistants and the inspectors of the bureau of animal industry of the United States.

All rules and parts of rules heretofore enacted by this board in conflict with the foregoing rules are hereby repealed.

Resolved, That all herds of cattle in this state shall be examined by the veterinary surgeon of this board, and such other persons as may be employed and necessary from time to time in accordance with said rules; that all cows having said disease shall be isolated from and secluded from all other animals in the possession of the owner of such cows, and that no infected cow shall be kept except in a barn not less than 300 feet distant from such healthy animals; that all buildings used for stabling cows for dairy purposes and the keeping of cows for the production of milk for sale, shall strictly comply with the rules heretofore enacted by this board.

This board calls on the sheriffs and deputy sheriffs of the various counties of this state, as well as upon all local boards, fiscal courts and municipal boards, to assist in the enforcement and carrying out the provisions of this proclamation, and the orders of this board, and to observe and obey the same, and upon the commonwealth's attorneys, county attorneys and officers of this commonwealth, including the magistrates and constables of the various counties and districts of the state, by all legal proceedings in their power to the enforcement of this proclamation, and the orders of this board, and to subject all persons refusing to comply herewith to the penalties prescribed by the laws of this state.

Aeroplanitis Has Seized Nearly Everybody in National Capital

Washington, July 8. (United Press.)—The national capital is now afflicted with the hot weather, the tariff debate and the aeroplane fever, and the greatest of these is the last.

Aeroplanitis thrives and increases in spite of the stifling sunshine and choking dust of the Port Myer parade ground where the Wright brothers are making their flights. Senators whose temperaments are antipodal to that commonly described as Gallic forsake the chamber and trudge patiently out into the unsheltered expanse of field where the sun beats mercilessly down upon them to see the machine soar.

Even Steve Elkins and Ben Tillman, whose enthusiasm is as well ordered and well controlled as that of E. H. Harriman, will wait for an hour—a patience-wrecking, temper-disturbing hour—and when the machine leaves its rail with a clinking of propellers waving their hats ecstatically and shake hands with each other, even if it goes only a hundred yards. And Senator Gore, who can't see at all, will wait with the others, to hear the whirling engine whizz past him somewhere in the upper levels.

It is a pernicious fever. It lays its grip stealthily. And its progress is not stimulated or encouraged by either of the Wright brothers. It doesn't make any difference whether one or four or five thousand people are waiting to see them fly. They sit in their machine shed, each chewing a blade of Timothy and displaying as much energy as a night watchman. The crowd may fume and sweat and mop its face and wonder where there is a drink of water, but the Wright brothers are not subject to such Withering Hour influences.

The Wrights.
If you happen to be one of the sweating multitude and given to strong language you probably let go of several yards exclaiming yourself for having come several hot miles and stood in the dust and sun with the net results of seeing Orville chew a blade of grass. You don't blame the aviators. They are consistent, as some one said, as consistent as hell. You feel that you are the goat. They don't tell you where or when or how. If the wind is right and the engine is working and several other conditions are propitious they'll try—try mind you, not fly—so you turn loose on the weather, and watch the anemometer on the roof of the whirled in the breeze. And then, when you've cursed everything you can think of and have sweat perspiration at the pores and are able to prove to your own satisfaction that the aeroplane is not worth a hang and never will be, six signal corps men come out of their corners, Wilbur tinkers around like a man trying to repair a trunk with a table knife and they put the thing on two small pony wheels and trundle it slowly up to the derrick where the starting weight is suspended. That's the trouble with the outfit. It's amateurish. They haven't got any tools; there's no soap about them. And that man Wright, Wilbur, the long, lanky one, wears a derby hat in the broiling sun with the thermometer at 100. Why can't he get a straw hat anyway?

Wilbur tinkers around again and waits. Then Orville strolls up and tinkers around and they both wait some more. Then Taylor, their mechanic, strolls down to the shed about four hundred yards away to get a screw driver. Orville follows him and brings back a bit of rope. All this time your dinner is getting cold, and you are wishing you had called up your wife to tell her you wouldn't be home in time and wondering how you will square yourself when you do get there. At least they start the engine. It's a curious sound and there's quite a breeze shooting out from behind. Then they hoist the weight and Orville climbs into the little two-by-four-inch seat in the middle of the lower plate forward.

Then some one tells you it takes nerve for a man to start out in a new machine from the very spot where he nearly killed himself last fall. Then somebody else tells you the same thing. Then everybody who isn't telling somebody else tells it to you again. And you don't care what they tell you. Wilbur takes his place at one corner with his hand on the plane. The machine starts forward for all the world like a pelican running across a barn yard with outstretched wings, even though they don't keep pelicans in barn yards, and it glides along just above the ground trying to mount into the air. If it comes down with a bump in a load of yellow dust two hundred yards away, you don't care. It's a wonderful thing, an amazing thing, and that must have been an awful bump that Orville got when she came down, and are they going to try it again?

If they don't, you try to get on the same car that three thousand other people are trying to get on and go home and make the family tired talking about deflating rudders and skids and other things. And the next day you are out again in the same dust and heat and waiting with fortified patience for another flight. If they keep it up long enough all Washington will have Aeroplanitis, and congress will vote the signal corps $70,000,000 for the promotion of aeronautics.

DOOM OF LATIN QUARTER.

Within Six Months No Trace of the Picturesque Section Will Remain.

Paris, July 8.—The Latin quarter, that Mecca of American visitors in the French capital, has been doomed. Within another six months it is improbable that a trace of the picturesque section will remain. House wreckers have begun work in carrying out the municipal improvement plan which has been decided upon.

The time has come to clear out the old and squalid neighborhood across the Seine, where beautiful new streets will be laid out and fine buildings will rise. The property, which belongs to the city, will be so administered as to bring in revenue, whereas it is now merely clearing expenses.

One of the head architects of the city of Paris said:

"For many years English, American and German students and visitors loved to live in the narrow streets, and liked to rough it in the old-fashioned houses of the quarter. But they no longer desire such a life. They prefer hygienic apartments that are light and cheap."

Literary Landmark Sold.

"The House of Seven Gables," around which Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote one of his best known and most characteristic tales, has been purchased by Mrs. George R. Emmerton, and will be turned into a house for settlement work. The house was built in 1662 and originally had seven gables. In remodeling it some 40 years ago most of these gables were removed and much modernized, but the places where the seven gable windows were are easily discernible today on the inside.—New York Times.

THE MACHINE WAS DISABLED

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 8.—One woman was killed, another fatally injured and two persons were slightly hurt in a wild dash of an automobile down Wilkesbarre mountain.

Mrs. James Hughes, of this city, was killed. Miss Laura Cannon, a member of the Luzerne county bar, was probably fatally injured.

The machine became disabled when descending a steep grade, and the driver was unable to stop its wild dash as it dashed down the mountain. It struck a sharp curve and smashed against a high embankment.

Women "Joy Riders."

New York, July 8.—"Horset John" Kelly's $10,000 automobile was lately smashed at the end of a joy ride, which terminated against a telegraph pole on Cathedral Parkway, near Amsterdam avenue, leaving Richard Tollen, chauffeur, unconscious under the remains of the expensive machine.

Its three women occupants engaged in a hot footrace with a policeman with the "L" station as the goal.

The race was won by the skirted trio, whose high heels and director's gowns seemed to affect their sprinting ability in no degree.

Judge Conger Injured.

Billon, Mont., July 8.—Judge Ever-ton J. Conger, who led the detail of soldiers that captured J. Wilkes Booth after the assassination of President Lincoln, was fatally injured by being run over by an automobile. Judge Conger had started across the racetrack at the fair grounds when the automobile struck him, passing over his shoulder and head.

Had a Rabbit's Foot, Maybe.

Hamilton, N. J., July 8.—An automobile, while being tested, leaped over a 50-foot embankment on the Springfield pike, turning over three times and landing right side up. The machine and chauffeur miraculously escaped injury.

The Modern Battle.

The face of the commander grew dark. The faces of the staff reflected their leader's anxiety.

The correspondent of the great daily came a little closer. An aide rushed up.

"General," he cried, "the enemy is advancing on our left wing!"

The general's frown grew darker, and raising his field glass he peered long and earnestly toward the rear.

"What in Sam Hill is detaching him?" he growled.

"Are you waiting for reinforcements, general?" the correspondent somewhat timidly asked.

"Reinforcements?" thundered the general. "Certainly not. I'm waiting for the moving picture man, confound him!"

At that moment the runaway bearing the picture machine whirled into position, and the battle commenced.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The snowfall in Central Europe last winter broke all records for many years, Germany probably receiving the worst of it. For days at a time, following each big storm, the streets of Berlin were blocked to such an extent that the street department of the German capital was taxed to the limit. One snowstorm cost the city $8,000 to clear away, automobile snow plows and vans being used to a great extent in the work.

The Emperor of Austria is the only royal personage of Europe who refuses to recognize the automobile.

Tasty Printing

WHICH does not mean expensive printing. Nobody would dig potatoes in a dress suit, but a good mechanic wants his overalls to fit.

We make our product fit the use or occasion.

Let us show samples and talk it over.

Have just taken stock and have some bargain, printed or plain, in odd and broken lots of paper and envelopes.
